

The Daily Courant.

Saturday, May 29 1703

From the Harlem Courant, dated May 31.

Vienna, May 19.

TWO Spanish Collonels, Don Ramuz and Don Guiffon, will shortly go to Portugal, in order to raise 2 Regiments in that Kingdom for the Service of the House of Austria.

From the Amsterdam Courant, dated May 31.

Paris, May 25. Letters from Nismes of the 18th say, that the Malecontents do not appear in so great Numbers as formerly, but make Excursions now and then in small Parties, into the Villages, and kill or carry off some of the Inhabitants: One of their Ringleaders, a Chevalier, is taken; and the Marshal de Montrevel, and Monsieur de Bafville, are gone to St. Hypolite to try him. On the 23d came Letters from the Duke de Vendome, advising, That the Weather has been so rainy in Italy that all the Rivers have overflow'd; which hindered his taking the Field on the 12th as he design'd; but that he hop'd to be able to open the Campaign by the 18th.

From the Paris Gazette a la main, dated May 28.

Paris, May 28. Letters from Turin of the 19th confirm the News we had from the Duke de Vendome that the Weather has been very tempestuous of late in Italy; which has retarded the Departure of the Duke of Savoy's Troops from Verceil, where they rendezvous'd. The March of His Royal Highnesses Guards du Corps is put off; for what reason is unknown. The Marquess de la Galliffoniere who was taken at Vigo, is arriv'd from England, with several other Sea-Officers, and 250 Seamen: for whom a certain Number of English Prisoners of War, are to be return'd, according to an Agreement made at London. There is arriv'd at Bayonne 160000 Pieces of Eight, of the 2 Millions which Spaniards agreed to remit hither, to make good in part the Losses and Charges sustain'd by the King on their Account.

From the Amsterdam Courant, dated June 2.

Paris, May 28. On the 6th of next Month the Gens d'Armes are to march out of the Franche Comte to the Army of the Marshal de Tallard, being to pass in Review before him on the 21st. The Venetians have an Army of 10000 Men in the Veronese, to cover that Country from the Irruptions of either Party at War in Italy. To Day the Duke of Burgundy went Post for Germany.

From the Amsterdam Courant, dated June 2.

Hanover, May 29. On the 26th, My Lord Raby Envoy of the Queen of Great Britain arriv'd here, and from hence will continue his Journey to Berlin.

From the Harlem Courant, dated June 2.

Liege, May 29. The Marshal de Villeroy, when he was moving into this Principality on the 9th Instant, offer'd the Elector of Cologne to endeavour to take this City and Citadel; but told him his Master's Interest requir'd that the Walls of both should be blown up, because it could not be worth while to garrison them. To which the Elector answer'd, That he had no Mind to see his Capital City made a Village.

Liege, May 27. The Marshal de Villeroy, on the March of the Confederate Army from Neudorp to Wichogne, made 2 Detachments, one of 3000 Men under Prince Tserclaes de Tilly to take Post between St. Truyn and St. Leeuw, and the other of 7 or 8000 Men to Flanders. The French being in Apprehension that Huy will be besieg'd, are very diligently employ'd in putting that Place into a Posture of Defence.

From Wichogne, the Confederate Army commanded by the Duke of Marlborough march'd to Thys, of which an Account is given in the Courant of Thursday last.

From the Amsterdam Courant, dated May 31.

Breda, May 29. The Enemy have posted 10000 Men in their Lines in Flanders, on Advice that the Confederates are drawing Forces together about Bergen op Zoom.

From the Harlem Courant, dated June 2.

Breda, May 30. We hourly expect 12 Squadrons of Horse from Bonn, commanded by the Prince of Hesse Homburg; They are to go to Bergen op Zoom; Whither our Governour General Salis went this Morning. 5 Deserters from Antwerp report, that there are but 2 Battalions in that City, the rest being gone into the Lines.

From the Amsterdam Courant, dated June 2.

Bergen op Zoom, May 31. Yesterday General Cohorn arriv'd here, and this Morning Baron Spar return'd to Hulst.

From the Harlem Courant, dated June 2.

Rotterdam, May 31. To Day the Fleet from England, on Board of which was Count Wratislaw, the Duke of Grafton &c. arriv'd in the Maes. The French Man of War call'd the Bourbon, taken last Year at Vigo, is Sold for 4200 Guilders.

Hague, May 29. Yesterday the Ambassador of the Czar of Muscovy deliver'd a Letter to Mr. Stanhope the Envoy of England, congratulating the Queen's Accession to the Throne. Some Advices from the Army in Brabant tell us, that the Marshal de Boufflers is detach'd from the Grand Army of the French, with 12000 Men, to cover the Country of Waes.

Falmouth, May 24. Yesterday sail'd hence 2 Zealand Privateers with a French Prize from Bourdeaux to the Eastward. This Day came in the Carlisle Privateer without Purchase.

Plymouth, May 29. Yesterday came in the Walkroon a Privateer of Middelburg, with 2 French Prizes viz. The St. Laurence, and the St. Maria Teresa both of and for St. Malo; the one of 16 and the other of 18 Guns, both laden with Oyl, Soap &c. from Marseilles. The same Day sail'd hence Captain Purchase with the Swallow for St. Malo, having on Board a certain Number of French Prisoners, which are the first in order to be exchange'd.

Lisbon, May 27. On the 21st the Fleet of Merchantships sail'd hence under Convoy of 5 small Dutch Men of War; about 15 Leagues from shore they met with 5 French Men of War, who engag'd the the Convoy, mean time the Merchantships dispers'd themselves and made the best of thoir way; one of them came back to St. Ubes, and has given account, that after a Fight of 2 hours and half, the French retir'd to some distance, where they remain'd looking at each other, the Dutch Ships resolving not to fly, and the French unwilling to leave them, so 'tis suppos'd the Fight was renew'd. We shall be glad to hear the Dutch came off well, mean time hope the Merchantships will all escape.
